The Four per Cents. The demand for the 4 per cents contin ues to be most remarkable, the sales aversging about $1,500,000 per day. Already, since May 1, enough 4 per cents have been sold to furnish the means with which to redeem $60,000,000 of the 5-20 six per cents; and the opinion is expressed by those in position to estimate correctly that the entire remainder of 5-20s of 65 will be rejunded into 4 per cents before Congress ressembles. The strength in the market of the 6s and 5s of 1881, the currency 6s 10-40s and 4 is is largely due to purchases by those who have held 5-20s of '65, and who must soon find other investments for their money. By Iar the lar-ger part of the holders of 5-20s of '65 have not, however, as yet reinvested but must do so in the early future or lose interest on their money.

The Weston & Clarksburg Narrow Gauge Railroad.

Concerning the recent lease of this railroad a correspondent at Weston writes us as follows: "By order of the stockholders of the Weston & West Fork Railroad, the property was leased for ninety years to Rathbone, Chancellor, Camden and Vance (the three first of Parkersburg and the last named of your city) who have bound themselves to equip and have the road in running order within two years. They expect, however, to complete it in six months. There are, perhaps, one hundred and fifty men at work on the line at present, grading and bridging, and doing splendid work, too. While our people have given away a road which with its franchises is easily worth $100,000 to these lessees and mort-several deaths had occured. The station is not in the main town but well to the east of it, so that, although the region round about is always a pestilently malarious one, there is every reason to fear that the existing epidemic originated at the station, brought thither from New Orleans. In other words, the fact of its prevalence near the station before spreading to the town gives weight to the fear that it is yelllow fever brought from New Orleans and not, as the local physicians say, simply a violent type of bilious fever, though what difference there is between yellow fever and epidemic bilious fever built by a Baltimore firm consisting of

has probably been a fatal refrain to the aspirations of all of his competitors. We warned them long ago that Colonel Ben was going through the land singing this song, and they should have taken up the chorus and followed close upon his foot steps.

As Jacob Lands, of Erwin, N. Y., was twisting the wisp around a sheaf of wheat the other day, a large rattlemake sprang from the straw directly toward his face. The former mechanically threw his hand out and caught the snake around the neck just in time to prevent its fastening its farge in his nose. He held the snake firmly in his hand and called for aid. A companion ran up and cut the serpent's head off with a scythe. The rattlemake had wound itself so tightly about Mr. Landis' bare arm that a broad red mark the slack showed every coil. To a reporter, a few days ago, Representative Charles Foster said: "I'll make five bets with you of a box of cigars each—first, that there will be one Congress—man from Missouri who will not vote for a Democratic organization of the House. Each of the other bets is to add one Congressman, and I think I will be a box of the constant of the congressman, and I think I will be a box of the constant of the congressman, and I think I will be a box of the constant of the congressman of the congre cigars shead. The Yellow Fever at Grenada. Grenada is a town of about two thousand linkabitants on the Yalabusha Rivor, a branch of the Yanoo, about one hundred miles south of Memphis. It is the point at which the line of railroad from New Orleans separates into two branches, one running to Memphis, and the other to Cairo. There were thirty-five cases of the fever within four hundred yards of the railroad station on Saturday, and several deaths had occured. The station of Goshen township.

On account of the hurry and flurry of On account of the hurry and flurry of "fining up," there has been no religious services bo-day. In the town we find no less commotion than on the ground. A barber shop and a picture tent are among the early enterprises. Farmers wagons are becoming very plenty. We hear many complaints of "gouging." Persons residing here say the farmers show a diposition to emulate the example of all summer resorts in the matter of high prices. Provisions can be brought from Barnesville or Bellaire cheaper than they can be bought here. "Boarding" is a sign appearing on many houses today. Burra Mills boasts of one regular hotel, the Paugle House. Any one having once partaken of the hospitalities of this house never lorget it. One gentleman remarked that it was worth coming to Borre to get one of Mrs. Paugle's dimpers.
